Newsweek Poll
Iowa Caucuses Poll II
Princeton Survey Research Associates International

Methodology Statement
(12/7/07)

This poll was conducted by Princeton Survey Research Associates International from December 5-6. Telephone interviews were conducted with 1,408 Iowa registered voters. Registered voters were screened from a random-digit-dial (RDD) telephone sample of Iowa residents. Registration status is self-reported and includes those who plan to register. 91 percent of adults in the sample reported being registered or planning to register so they could attend a caucus.

Results are weighted so that the sample demographics match Census Current Population Survey parameters for gender, age, education, race, region, and population density. The overall margin of sampling error is plus or minus 3 percentage points for results based on 1,408 Iowa registered voters. Results based on smaller subgroups are subject to larger margins of sampling error.

SAMPLE SIZE/MARGIN OF ERROR FOR REGISTERED VOTERS SUBGROUPS:

1,408	Registered voters (plus or minus 3)
540	Republican voters (Republican, lean Rep, or plan to attend a GOP caucus) (plus or minus 5)
673	Democratic voters (Democrat, lean Dem, or plan to attend a Dem. caucus) (plus or minus 5)
275	Likely Republican caucus-goers (definitely/probably will attend) (plus or minus 7)
395	Likely Democratic caucus-goers (definitely/probably will attend) (plus or minus 6)

Likely Republican caucus-goers are 16% of all Iowa adults 18+ (weighted cases). Likely Democratic caucus-goers are 24% of all Iowa adults 18+ (weighted cases).

In addition to sampling error, the practical difficulties of conducting surveys can also introduce error or bias to poll results.
